Written by Justyn Wilson

Kernersville, N.C. – Kernersville Parks and Recreation's 2025 Winter Basketball Season tipped off in January. This was the first time the season was held in Kernersville's new Recreation and Events Center. The winter season offered a plethora of intense matchups between many returning teams and a few new teams.

A returning team in the league, Hog Dragers, started the season and finished the season as dominant as possible. Hog Dragers completed a perfect undefeated regular season, showcasing talent, teamwork, and unstoppable drive every step of the way. Hog Dragers finished as the regular season champions. Led by Josh Hill, they knocked off the eventual post-season champs Team Cash in a 65-63 nail bitter of a game. Team Cash, led by Rashad Branch, finished the season on a 4-game win streak. With an impressive 7-1 regular-season record, the team dominated the court with skill, teamwork, and relentless determination. Team Cash did not let the loss to Hog Dragers deter them as they got revenge in the championship game and finished as Kernersville's Winter basketball post-season champions.

Dream Team, captained by Austin Bell, demonstrated consistent performances during the season. They started their season strong with a 5-game win streak against teams Belt Boyz, Showtime and others. They showed great team cohesion and spirit during the entire season. As a new team Belt Boyz did not take that loss lightly as they preceded to win 3 out of their last 4 games with great team performances. Led by Taz Thomas, they ended the season with a +98-point differential. Another new team who showed their grit and excellent team work was Carolina Cobras. The Cobras, captained by Chandler Hanover, committed to both offense and defense along with their teamwork allowed them to thrive during the season and finish with an even record. Cobras played Team Cash in the first game of the postseason and showed they could hang with the best in the league.

Jones Elite, led by Kendall Jones emphasized dynamic teamwork and electrifying offensive play. Their high-flying offensive style has earned them a point differential of +103, demonstrating their offensive dominance and ability to break down opposing defenses with ease. Another returning team, Team Starz, captained by Tyshawn Stadler showed that they could compete with any team in the league, boasting a 5-3 record they had many games where they showed what they could produce when firing on all cylinders.

Two teams who had a rough time during the season were The Long 2's and Showtime. The Long 2's led by Alen Izic, started the season roughly but gained confidence as the season went on and put in some really good showings. Showtime, led by Marcus Dixon had a very similar season to The Long 2's as they both finished the season with the same record and met in the first game of the playoffs. They played a great match against each other with great intensity. Showtime ended up taking it by the skin of their teeth in a 45-42 win.

A new team in the league FedEx Ballers, led by Josiah Goodman finished the season a respectable 3-5 record. Despite a 3-5 regular season, the team showed heart, growth, and determination every time they stepped on the court. Beavers Basketball Club, captained by Daniel Martin had a rough time during the season but never let that discourage them. They were able to get a crucial win early in the season against Showtime with a who had the same record at the time.

The Kernersville Parks and Recreation Department will host a Summer Basketball season, scheduled to begin in May of 2025.

2025 Kernersville Parks and Recreation Summer Basketball Post-Season Write-Up (West)

Written by Justyn Wilson

Kernersville, N.C. – Kernersville Parks and Recreation’s 2025 Summer Basketball Season tipped off in May. This was the second time the season was held in Kernersville’s new Recreation and Events Center but the first season with 2 different conferences. The 2025 Western Conference season in the Kernersville Parks and Recreation Basketball League brought non-stop action, tough battles, and standout performances across the board. Every team in the division brought energy and effort each week, making for one of the most competitive seasons in recent league history.

At the top of the standings stood Why We Still Hoop, who put together a flawless 6-0 regular season campaign. Their consistency, chemistry, and all-around play made them a powerhouse from week one. With a strong defensive core and a fluid, team-first offense, Why We Still Hoop handled the regular season pressure with confidence, securing the Western Conference regular season championship by way of point differential.

Right behind them, also finishing at 6-0, was Dem Boyz—a team that showed grit, depth, and determination throughout the entire season. While they fell just short of the regular season title due to point differential, Dem Boyz were every bit as dominant. Their mix of veteran leadership and dynamic playmaking made them one of the most feared teams in the conference.

Finishing in third place was Elite, who posted a solid 4-2 record. Known for their up-tempo pace and relentless hustle, Elite proved they could hang with any team in the league. They consistently challenged top-tier opponents and found ways to grind out key wins that kept them firmly in the upper half of the standings.

Team Tuff secured the fourth seed with a 3-3 finish. True to their name, they played a physical brand of basketball and never made it easy for their opponents. Whether trailing or leading, Team Tuff brought intensity to every possession, earning them the reputation of being one of the most battle-tested squads in the league.

Jones Elite and Team Underdogs both ended the season with 2-4 records. Despite their final standings, both teams played with purpose and showed clear growth throughout the season. Each week, they were in the mix, pushing teams to the edge and gaining valuable experience in tight-game situations.

Rounding out the standings were Generational Force and Beavers Basketball Club, two teams whose records didn’t reflect how closely contested their games truly were. Week after week, these squads brought high energy, tight defense, and excellent teamwork. Nearly every matchup involving these teams came down to the wire, and their competitive spirit helped elevate the level of play across the entire conference.

The Western Conference this season was marked by depth, intensity, and an impressive level of competition from top to bottom. Congratulations to Why We Still Hoop for claiming the regular season crown and to every team for making this a truly memorable season. We look forward to seeing the rivalries, rematches, and storylines continue next season!

The Kernersville Parks and Recreation Department will host a Fall Basketball season, scheduled to begin in September of 2025.
