

2025 Fall Kernersville Parks and Recreation Post-Season Write-Up (Advanced)

Written by Brandon Bullins

Kernersville, N.C. – The first league following the inaugural season for Adult Volleyball occurred at the Kernersville Recreation and Events Center this fall. The league hosted two divisions – Advanced and Intermediate – four teams in the advanced division, eight in the intermediate. All 12 teams were united by one common goal – to be crowned champions by season’s end. 10 regular season games in addition to a double-elimination post-season tournament led to a plethora of high-intensity matchups.

The first week of the season regardless of sport is a unique experience, as teams are feeling each other out and meshing into a scheme for the first time. Teams like The Menu, led by Gisele De La Rosa, found their stride early in the first night of matchups, knocking off the Concrete Crows in three sets. The Menu also found wins in week four and week five of the season. Concrete Crows dominated the middle of the season, winning four out of their six games from weeks two through four. Led by Darwin Chavez, the Crows found themselves with a winning regular season record and #2 overall in the league.

Set to Kill had The Menu’s number early in the season, collecting wins against The Menu in back-to-back weeks. Robert Lewellyn and crew showed strength for the remainder of the season, taking teams to three sets and having close games. Though Set to Kill did not collect any more wins in the regular season after week two, they made a tremendous run in the tournament, appearing in the championship game.

The redemption team of the season goes to the Lousy Tippers. The Tippers, captained by Kyle Bohn, fell in the championship game last season to The Menu. The start of the season looked shaky, as they fell to the Crows in the first game of the year. However post-loss, they ran the table by rattling off nine consecutive wins, finishing the season with a nine win to one loss record.

During the tournament, a shocking turn of events occurred as the bottom-seeded Set to Kill knocked off the top-seeded Lousy Tippers in the first game of the night. Set to Kill also went on to defeat the Crows in the semi-finals, punching their ticket to the championship game.

This put Lousy Tippers and the Concrete Crows in a dangerous situation as one more slip-up meant their season was over. Lousy defeated The Menu and the Crows to claw their way back into the championship game to redeem themselves from last season’s shortcomings. In a rematch from game one of the tournament, Lousy Tippers was able to defeat Set to Kill in two sets. Since both teams now have one loss, they faced off for the third and final time. Lousy Tippers showed why they were the top seed heading into the tournament, conquering Set to Kill in two sets again. Lousy Tippers were named Advanced league champions and were awarded a new Molten 5000 NCAA Championship Ball.

2025 Fall Kernersville Parks and Recreation Post-Season Write-Up (Intermediate)

Written by Brandon Bullins

Kernersville, N.C. – The first league following the inaugural season for Adult Volleyball occurred at the Kernersville Recreation and Events Center this fall. The league hosted two divisions – Advanced and Intermediate – four teams in the advanced division, eight in the intermediate. All 12 teams were united by one common goal – to be crowned champions by season’s end. 10 regular season games in addition to a double-elimination post-season tournament led to a plethora of high-intensity matchups.

The first of the intense matchups started with the first game of the night, 6 Pack vs The Blockade. Both are returning teams from the previous season, so these squads are familiar with each other already. The Blockade hung on after losing the first set to defeat 6 Pack in three sets. Chance Smink, leader of The Blockade, and Daniel Pessoa, leader of 6 Pack, faced off one more time in the regular season. 6 Pack bested The Blockade in the last night of the season, beating them in two sets.

A timeless match-up of Old-School versus New-School happened when the previous season’s Free Agent Team, now called The Maverick Ralliers, faced off against the new Free Agent Team. These fierce competitors faced each other twice during the regular season, splitting the series with one win and one loss each. Christina Douglas, captain of the Ralliers, also bested Mission Unblockable in week 2. The Free Agent Team, headed by Lok Awasthi, went undefeated in two non-consecutive weeks, marking themselves as a fiery squad.

Mission Unblockable, formerly known as team Cook, made a statement early in the season. They were able to knock off the Block Party Crashers in two sets. These camps are old-foes, as they faced off three times during the inaugural season. Seja Cook, team leader of Mission Unblockable, was able to put together solid sets along the rest of the way, but did not manage another checkmark in the win column. Block Party Crashers, led by Vicky Musumeci, were improved from the inaugural season, finishing this season .500 and made an appearance in the quarter-finals.

Another returning team, Booyah, previously titled Dig Down, Pass Up, found their footing in week 3 of the season. They went two wins to zero losses on the night, even winning a close game against the Ralliers where the final set went to extra points. The only new team to the intermediate league is the Net Monkeys, piloted by Nhan Luong. The Monkeys dominated the regular season, starting the season with three wins and finishing the season on a five-game win streak.

The double-elimination tournament offered no surprises as the top-4 seeded teams made it to the quarter finals. In the semifinals round, 6 Pack and The Blockade were set to face off for the first time in the playoffs. The winner of this game would have a huge advantage going into the championship game, as one more win meant they would be champions. 6 Pack was able to win and send The Blockade to face the Net Monkeys. The winner of this game would face 6 Pack in the championship.

The Blockade bounced back against the Net Monkeys, sending Net Monkeys home after three sets. For the fourth time this season, The Blockade would face 6 Pack. This time, it is for all the marbles. 6 Pack topped The Blockade in the first set, but Smink and squad was not down for the count. They fought back hard and bested 6 Pack in set #2. Their advantage carried over into the third set, where they found themselves up 14 to 10 over 6 Pack. A timeout called by Pessoa was the difference maker for the 6 Pack as they were able to rattle off an ironic 6 unanswered point run to win in dramatic comeback fashion. 6 Pack was named Intermediate league champions and were awarded a new Molten 5000 NCAA Championship ball, which Pessoa sent overseas for underprivileged children to play with – a reminder that the love of sport knows no boundaries.
